

Upcoming Events and Activities

Being Good Neighbours

We share the building's parking lot with our neighbours at All Saints Anglican Church next door, and in the winter months, accumulated snow acts to lessen the number of available parking spots. A row of ten parking spaces adjacent to Victoria Street has been reserved for the use of the All Saints family, and this area has posted signs marking such designation. May we kindly ask of our Trailhead family to respect these signs, and park elsewhere in the lot, even possibly abstaining from using further parking spots closer to their building, in order to provide our brothers and sisters in Christ with greater access to the church where they gather. Your help in this matter is greatly appreciated!

Mark Your Calendars

Friday morning, April 3rd, our Trailhead family will be joining together with several other area churches for a Good Friday community worship service at Pembroke Pentecostal Tabernacle; where this year Pastor Tim will share the Word.

"On the Edge of Mount Sinai" (Exodus 19:1-25) The Book of Exodus, pt. 15

Sunday, Feb. 8th, 2026

Sermon Summary

- God didn't act to release Israel from slavery in Egypt simply to grant to them personal freedom; but to permit His people the freedom to openly worship and serve Him.
- Prior to God settling upon Mount Sinai in the midst of the people of Israel, the Lord demanded that the Israelites consecrate themselves (Ex. 19:9-15).
- The consecration of an individual demanded that a person remove or separate themselves from things that were deemed 'unclean;' intentionally detaching themselves from that which was unfit to be near to God's holy presence.
- Due to the physical presence of God's perfect holiness, the mountain itself, God's dwelling place would become holy; and anything else's presence would only act to violate this sacred place in desecration.
- Moses' ability to climb up the mountain to become nearer to God was entirely due to God's grace, Moses obediently responding to the Lord's own personal invitation.
- What God is more concerned with, is an individual's heart, not their outward actions. What concerns God, is that we faithfully follow Him in obedience, in all areas of our lives!
- It wasn't the Israelites' bodies that were becoming purified, but their own individual hearts; as God's people collectively sought to follow the Lord in obedience.
- Our hearts will ever remain stained with sin; sin that prevents us from ever drawing near to God's presence, unless we are permitted to do so, by His grace!
- So long as we live upon this sinful, fallen earth, we will ever remain in conflict with sin; all the days of our lives faced with temptations that we can only resist in God's power.

None but the redeemed can draw near to God's perfect holiness.
